Hello Mapon team,

I'm applying because the role asks for AI assistants and automated workflows inside an operational B2B product, plus design-system work that other designers adopt. I've shipped an AI agent in a B2B product and worked on two production design systems.

At Remuner, a sales-compensation platform where I was the sole product designer, I designed and shipped a conversational AI agent for commissions and plans. I owned the conversation design, answer formats and trust patterns, and set the role-based context so managers could ask about their team's plans while reps saw only their own. When reps called their dashboard unintuitive, I interviewed them and redesigned it; product analytics then showed them reaching their metric in fewer clicks.

At Abacum I co-led the business case for Abax, the design system, and worked on its tokens, components and governance across five squads. It reached about 47% of tracked component uses when I left, against an 80% goal.

I'm based in Barcelona, the location on your posting, and can travel to Riga for occasional on-site weeks.
